Which approach should the data architect use?

- A. Loop and Reduce
- B. QVDs
- C. In-memory

Answer: A

Question No. 2

Question No. 3

A data architect is developing an app that will generate QVDs for multiple business analysts. The field naming conventions on the source data are NOT business friendly. For every table loaded, multiple fields will require a name change.

An Excel file is maintained centrally that lists all source data field names and the appropriate names as they should appear in the QVDs

Which strategy should the data architect use to meet these requirements?

- A. Use the Rename function and a mapping load
- B. Create master items using business-friendly names
- C. Use the Alias function and a mapping load
- D. Load in the Excel file as a data island and use the Peek function

Answer: A

Question No. 4

Refer to the exhibit.

A data architect builds a simple data model to show the relationship between students and exams. The data is loaded. Every StudentID in the Exams table should be found in the Students table. Some students have NOT taken an exam.

The data architect selects the field "StudentID" from the Students table and sees the following:

StudentID
Density	100%
Subset ratio	66.6%
Has duplicates	true
Total distinct values	6
Present distinct values	4
Non-null values	8
Tags	$key $numeric $integer

A data architect needs to fix this anomaly.

What should the data architect do to ensure data integrity?

- A. Update the Students table and add 16.7% of the missing records
- B. Remove records from the Exams table where StudentID is null
- C. Update the Exams table and add 33.4% of the missing records
- D. In the LOAD script, add DISTINCT before the Students and Exams tables

Answer: C

Question No. 5

Which syntax should the data architect use?

- A. NullAsValue*; Set NullValues = 'Missing Value';
- B. NullasNull *; Set NullValues = 'Missing Value';
- C. NullasNull *; Set NullValue = 'Missing Value';
- D. NullAsValue*; Set NullValue = 'Missing Value';
